

A Flower In The Snow

In the coldest times
I would reach for you
Hoping to share the warmth
You somehow gave.

And even now
When I remember those times
Some of the smiles come back
And it's all right.

You were a bright spot
In the darkness of my winter
A taste of Reality
A flower in the snow

In the half-light of morning
You are far away to me
~~But I long to be with you now~~

~~Because~~
But I learned enough in winter
To make through the spring.

J. M. McCumey